Negros Occidental (29 September) -- Three representatives from national institutions namely Teleperformance, Philippine Computer Society and Game Development Association of the Philippines signed a memorandum of agreement as official partners of the National ICT Confederation of the Philippines (NICP) in the staging of the 3rd National ICT Summit in Bacolod City on November 25 and 26 this year.

David Rizzo, Asia-Pacific Director of Teleperformance, Leo Querubin, President of the Philippine Computer Society and Cesar Tolentino, Executive Director of the Game Development Association of the Philippines (GDAP) signed in behalf of their organizations, while Jocelle Batapa-Sigue signed as chair in behalf of NICP during a formal ceremony recently at the SMX Convention Center in Pasay City.

The three partner organizations committed to help achieve the goal of the 3rd National ICT Summit which is to help make the Philippines one of the world's largest outsourcing and off-shoring destinations in the world by enriching the different islands of the country with up-to-date knowledge and information consolidated by experts and specialists in the information and communications technology (ICT) sector.

The signing was held during the 3rd Quarter NICP meeting which was attended by Commissioner Mon Ibrahim of the Commission on Information and Communications Technology (CICT), former CICT Commissioner Dondi Mapa, Gigi Virata and Martin Crisostomo of the Business Process Association of the Philippines (BPAP).
